in affectionate embraces. Then he was heard to say: "My dear, it was a close shave. At one time I thought I would never see in you again. Why, the sea ran mountains high. The captain was the last to leave the ship. He and I were on the raft, as all the boats had gone." The steward then went out of the office. He refused to say anything to the eporters who were in waiting.

Meanwhile Capt. Hoffman was closeted with Mr. Hughes, who gave out the following statement shortly after noon:

"The City of Alexandria left Matan zas at 3.30 P. M. Nov. 1, after discharg ng her cargo and taking on board what cargo there was for the return voyage was bound for Havana to load there for New York, from where she was to have left at 6 P. M. on the 2d.

SENECA SAILORS ARRESTED.

Accused of Broaching the Liquor Locker on the Voyage.

Deputy United States Marshals Grant and Solomon boarded the steamer Seneca at Quarantine this morning from the towboat J. Jewett with warrants from United States Commissioner Shields for the arrest of five seamen.

The five men were taken before Commissioner Shields and charged with hoarding and embezzling liquors before inording and embezzling liquors before nording and embezzling liquors before accused of breaking into the locker and having a hilarious time with the whiskey and wines. They were put in irons. The names of the men are August

It was not, he said, for the purpose of humiliating his wife, as she alleges, but because he needed the $200 a month rental. He had to go South in the interests of his company and couldn't afford to keep up the establishment.

Lawyer Austin G. Fox, who is associated with Mr. Hummel in the effort to free Mrs. Bucki's mouth, as you claim, was it only to keep her from talking?

"Ves; she had made a remark to my mother which I considered very imposer, and I wanted her to stop."

Did she leave the room then?"

She did."

The same day Mr. Bucki saw Motherin-law Eckman, and in answer to some remark she made about his mother said:

Mr. Jacobus is on friendly terms with Eno, and therefore did not take kindly to the idea of personally executing the warrant, which was turned over to Deputies Grant and Trautileld with instructions, it is said, to make the arrest if possible, early in the day, so as to give the prisoner an opportunity to procure bondsmen. The deputies did not succeed in finding him, however, until the time mentioned.

Eno had evidently anticipated his arrest. He neither exhibited nor expressed surprise when the deputies stepped up to him and in an apologetic way told him who they were and showed their warrant.

Islaed a Marriage Notice.

Herbert A. Levy, a well-known artist, who has a studio in the Sherwood Studio Ruilding and resides with his father, a wealthy retired merchant, at 21 West Fiftieth street, is very busy explaining to his friends to-day that he isn't married.

Last Tuesday evening Mr. Levy received a note from Miss Giles Gamble Islaele McClenahan, a former pupil of his, reading:

Sensational Defense Will Be Made in the Upington Suit.

Officials Who Protected Policy Dealers to Be Exposed.

Blemarc k's " Lawyer Promises to Explods Several Bombs.

The action of George P. Upington to recover $48,000 from John Keenan for money "loaned" has taken a sensational Keenan has decided to let out the whole business about the protection that is alleged to have been accorded by certain officers to policy dealers in 1881 and 1882.

William A. Butler, ex-County Clerk, who caused the difficulty in court yesterday, was examined briefly for the plaintiff. He said that Upington, Com-missioner of Jurors Caulfield and Keenan were always together and on the closest terms in 1881 and 1882. On cross-examination by Lawyer Root he denied that he owes the county money not paid

Col. Bliss then began the opening address of the defense. He said that at the first trial they had been feeling their way carefully, and did not earn the full circumstances of the case until men who had done business with Upington, moved by a sense of justice, had told them the inside features of the case. They intended to go into these features fully
